USA. Vietnam. Cold War. Culture Clash. Memoir.

Join us over the next several months as the Plymouth District Library explores the relationship between the United States and Vietnam along coincidental and overlapping avenues. We are participating in The Great Michigan Read — reflecting on the memoir Stealing Buddha's Dinner by Bich Minh Nguyen, about the cultural experiences of the author as a Vietnamese child coming of age in Grand Rapids, Michigan in the 1980s. We are also exploring the era of U.S. involvement in Vietnam in a series of history programs under the banner Vietnam Perspectives. Details on these concurrent paths are as follows:

Vietnam Perspectives

Through a series of programs under the heading Vietnam Perspectives, we will explore U.S. involvement in Vietnam from the 50's through the fall of Saigon. We will reflect upon war, peace, culture, and politics, and we will recognize and appreciate our esteemed military.

Vietnam Veterans Panel Discussion Wednesday, October 28, 6:30 p.m.

Join us as we begin our Vietnam Perspectives series with a Vietnam Veterans Panel Presentation & Discussion the evening of October 28. The following members of Vietnam Veterans of American (VVA), Chapter 528 Plymouth-Canton, will be on the panel sharing experiences and reflections on their service:

- Don Dignan, 1967–1968, U.S. Army, 1st Infantry Division
- Gary Kubik, 1967–1971, U.S. Navy (Submarine)
- Bob Paul, 1962–1966, CPL, USMC (Air Wing)
- Rick Popa, 1969–1971, U.S. Army, 258th Military Police Co. Corps, 3rd Corps, 4th Army, 5th Army
- Dennis Shrewsbury, 1961–1965, U.S. Coast Guard
- Rich Whipple, 1967–1969, Sergeant, U.S. Army, 173d Airborne Brigade, 1st Cavalry Division

We intend for this presentation to evoke memories, promote discussion and facilitate sharing of experiences among panel participants and members of the audience.

Thank you to Cheryl A. Vatcher-Martin, M.A., 181st Infantry, for her assistance in organizing this panel. Vietnam Perspectives is sponsored by Friends of the Library. Refreshments provided. Sign-up is requested. For additional information on VVA Chapter 528, please see www.vva528.org.

Great Michigan Read celebration will include author visit – October 17 growing up in Grand Rapids in the 1980s. This acclaimed author will visit only five Michigan cities as she shares her story of coming to the United States and growing up in the Midwest. Join us as we welcome her to Plymouth on Saturday, October 17 at 1 p.m. at the Penn Theatre.

The Great Michigan Read encourages Michiganders to learn more about their state, their history, and their society by focusing on a single work of Michigan literature. The publication of a special section of the Detroit Free Press on October 9, will contain an excerpt of the book and author's introduction. Complementary copies of this special section will be available at the Library.

Read along with us! Join the Contemporary Books Discussion Group on Tuesday, November 10, 2009 at 7:30 p.m. and/or the Brown Bag Books Discussion Group on Wednesday, January 27, 2010 at noon, for thoughtful and lively discussions of this author's Michigan experience.Copies of Stealing Buddha's Dinner will be available for check-out at the Library.

The Great Michigan Read is presented by the Michigan Humanities Council, the state affiliate of the National Endowment for the Humanities.

Contemporary Books Discussion Group

This group meets on the second Tuesday of each month at 7:30 p.m. at the Library. New members are welcome at any time. Titles are selected by the group and each month a group member moderates the informal discussion. The current title is available at the check-out desk in the Library. Titles for the coming months are:

September 8, 2009
The Last Night at the Lobster* by Stewart O'Nan

The Red Lobster restaurant at the far corner of a run-down New England mall hasn't been making a profit for awhile and the corporate headquarters has finally decided it should close. Four shopping days before Christmas, the manager, Manny DeLeon, a conscientious worker, is committed to doing the best job he can, despite the circumstances that are stacked against him, including a blizzard that batters the area, embittered employees who don't show up, a lack of customers, and his own personal disappointments. "This slice-of-life novel is funny, poignant and exquisitely rendered." (Library Journal)

October 13, 2009
The Story of Edgar Sawtelle* by David Wroblewski

Set in rural 1970's Wisconsin, this loose retelling of Hamlet features Edgar, a boy born mute, but with an uncanny ability to communicate with the dogs bred and raised by his family. His idyllic life is disrupted when his ne'er-do-well uncle, Claude, comes to live with the family. Soon after, Edgar's father dies, and Edgar is convinced, but cannot prove, that his uncle is to blame. Grief stricken and bewildered, Edgar is forced to flee into the wild, where he and his dogs fight for survival. "An excruciatingly captivating read." (Library Journal)

November 10, 2009
Stealing Buddha's Dinner: A Memoir* by Bich Minh Nguyen

Chosen by the Michigan Humanities Council as the Great Michigan Read for 2009–10, this memoir chronicles the journey of the author as a young child from Vietnam after the fall of Saigon in 1975, to Grand Rapids, Michigan, where her family settled. Nguyen tells of growing up intensely aware of the differences between her family and the dominant culture, and of her attempts to reconcile the many influences she observed around her, including the traditional Vietnamese customs of her grandmother, the Midwestern attitudes of her peers, and the myriad American consumer influences of the 1980s. Her tale is filled with images of American consumerism, demonstrating her adolescent belief that consuming as much "Americaness" as possible would make her a true American.

For more information contact Sue Patterson, 734.453.0750 ext. 241, or spatterson@plymouthlibrary.org.

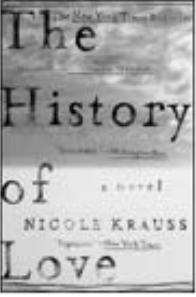

Brown Bag Books

This Library book discussion group meets at noon on the fourth Wednesday of each month and is always open to new members. The group selects the books for discussion, which are available at the check-out desk during the month preceding the discussion. Volunteers from among the group lead the discussion, with background materials supplied by the librarian. Bring your own lunch or snack; the Library provides beverages. Titles for upcoming months are:

September 23
The Brief Wondrous Life of Oscar Wao* by Junot Díaz

Best known for his collection of short stories Drown, Díaz struck gold with his follow-up and first novel, The Brief Wondrous Life of Oscar Wao — capturing the 2008 Pulitzer Prize for fiction. Oscar Wao is a Dominican-American teen struggling with all-too-typical New Jersey teenage issues but faces them with the added pressures of his Dominican heritage. The story chronicles Oscar's fascination with science fiction and fantasy, his aspirations to become the latino Tolkien, and his family history in the Dominican Republic who suffer from a Caribbean curse known as "fuku."

October 28
The History of Love* by Nicole Krauss

This truly unique novel's central figure, Leo Gursky, feels as though he is disappearing and becoming invisible to the world. He has lost the three treasures of his life — the woman he loved, the son that doesn't know Leo is his father, and the book he wrote years earlier, The History of Love. The novel becomes a book within a book as we follow Leo's search to reclaim what he has lost and we learn about his History of Love.

November 25
The Book Thief* by Markus Zusak

Set in Germany during WWII, Death himself narrates this enormously thought-provoking and surprisingly uplifting story. It tells the story of Liesel, a young German girl who struggles to survive in her war-torn country with her loving foster parents and a handful of unique and caring friends. Liesel finds herself stealing books which she cannot yet read, but they eventually teach her to survive.
